

I fully support XM radio and their pursuit in their Instant Traffic and Weather and any other service they offer in the future. I have become tired of local radio stations that do nothing but talk about nothing. XM radio has wonderful talk radio as well as commercial free music. The Discovery channel, Ask, CNN Live, and 7 other channels have found their way to my memory presets. I can't get the wonderful programing that XM radio offers anywhere else. If the NAB wants to do something about XM radio's services, I suggest they improve their services to become more competitive. As I said before, local radio stations have failed to keep up with the times and with technology and XM radio has harnesses their failures and should not be limited in their programing.
